

Marriage in Tranent Parish Church

Here's some helpful information for you...

Christians view marriage as a gift of God and believe that God helps their marriage to flourish.

Ministers of the Church of Scotland are authorised to perform marriages and are free to marry people who are not members of the Church of Scotland. The church encourages people to get married in their local church. Tranent Parish Church is a church not just for its members but for the local community too.

We suggest that you start off by coming along to our 11 am service in the church building any Sunday, if that is a possibility for you. Please then contact the Minister if you would like some more information. She will be very happy to meet with you.
